

EPISCOPAL
DIOCESE of INDIANAPOLIS

July 1, 2020

Dear Ones:

I am grateful for your leadership and collaboration as you have engaged in the task of developing regathering plans, as well as for your thoughtful feedback on implementation of the second version of the diocesan guidelines issued June 3rd. As anticipated, our understanding of COVID-19, the risks to our congregations in gathering, and the availability of reliable data have quickly evolved. The following revision incorporates this evolution and helps to clarify my expectations in the regathering plans.

Highlights of changes in this draft include:

- A provision for baptisms on page 9.

As before, we will, under no circumstances, convene in-person gatherings in communities where they are prohibited for public health reasons, but we can resume weeks or even months later than the state permits if that is what is necessary to keep our people safe.

These recommendations and standards are likely to be updated again as conditions evolve. My staff and I are here at every turn to support you as you assess the situation in your community and how your congregation is called to respond.

I continue to have deep appreciation for the faithfulness and care you have for one another and our communities. Our mission commitments to serve in Christ's name have never been more critical. May God continue to bless and keep you in these days.

Faithfully,

REOPENING GUIDELINES | VERSION 3, JULY 1, 2020

This revision, made July 1, 2020, supersedes all previous versions of this document.

This document incorporates elements of discussions between Bishop Jennifer and lay and clergy leaders from across the diocese, diocesan staff meetings, conversations between the bishop and the Executive Council, the Standing Committee, and the Diocese of Northern Indiana. Additionally, it includes counsel from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Johns Hopkins University, the Church Insurance Company, the House of Bishops, and Episcopal Relief & Development. We are indebted to the dioceses of Maine, Georgia and San Diego, and the Wisconsin Council of Churches for their generosity in helping us shape this document.

Live Streaming and Recording Worship from Church Buildings: Permissible as of May 24

A group of no more than 10 individuals may return to churches beginning on May 24 solely for the purpose of livestreaming or recording worship. We strongly recommend that clergy and lay people aged 65 and older or who have underlying medical conditions that put them at greater risk from the virus stay home, but the decision is left to the individual and the bishop's requirement that clergy age 65 and older stay home has been lifted. In addition, these live-streamed or recorded sessions must conform to the safety requirements outlined under "Building Use" on page 4 and "Worship and Fellowship" on page 6 of this document.

No congregation is required to return to its church building to livestream or record worship. You have the bishop's full support if you determine that continuing to stream or record from home is the best choice for your congregation.

Assembling for In-Person Public Worship: Permissible as of June 14

PUBLIC HEALTH STANDARDS

Your church may return to public in-person worship when COVID-19 infections in your county have been contained and are not increasing. Various data measures can be used to determine whether that is the case, including:

- The number of COVID-19 cases in your county has decreased for 14 days or has held steady with a mere handful of cases (five or fewer). Find this information on the Indiana COVID-19 dashboard website.
- The infection rate (R-naught) is less than 1.0, which means that on average in the community, each infected person is infecting less than one other person and the total number of current cases is shrinking. The infection rate for many Indiana counties, but not all, may be found on the Covid Act Now website. Click on the map of Indiana counties to find county-by-county data or use the search bar at the top of the page.

Episcopal Diocese of Indianapolis

REOPENING GUIDELINES | VERSION 3, JULY 1, 2020

- The positive test rate is less than 10%, preferably closer to 3% or less. The positive test rate measures how many people test positive compared to all who were tested in a given period of time and indicates whether testing is widespread enough to detect most new cases. The ability to identify and isolate cases is key to controlling the infection. This information may also be found on the Covid Act Now dashboard.
- The Regenstrief Institute dashboard tracks additional datapoints for each county in Indiana and includes other metrics such as hospitalization rates that can assist in assessing the risk of exposure in your county.

Verify the data you've collected by calling your county's health department and asking if COVID-19 has been contained. Ask also if the county retains the ability to test all Hoosiers who seek COVID-19 testing. Also confirm health officials in your county have systems in place to contact all individuals who test positive for COVID-19 and to complete contact tracing.

Each congregation's reopening team, described below, is responsible for assessing the available local data and determining the conditions in which the risk of infection is low enough that it is reasonable to offer in-person worship subject to the Regathering Plan that will be approved by Bishop Jennifer.

CONGREGATIONAL REGATHERING TEAMS

Each congregation must establish a congregational regathering team composed of clergy and lay leaders whose tasks are the following:

- Develop a regathering plan for approval by Bishop Jennifer
- Monitor local public health conditions
- Remain in contact with bishop's staff as you monitor local outbreak conditions. Regathering teams need not inform the bishop's office of every decision they make as long as they are following their regathering plan. However, if conditions necessitate returning to worship from home, please let the bishop's office know.

REGATHERING PLAN REQUIRED

If the risk of infection in your county has been significantly reduced in accordance with the public health standards above and your congregation's regathering plan has been approved by the bishop, you may be permitted to hold indoor gatherings of up to 25 people. Such plans must conform to the standards outlined below. The earliest permissible date to return for in-person public worship is June 14. At this time, we do not have a projected date for granting approval for indoor gatherings of more than 25 people, but will accept and review proposals for outdoor gatherings with more than 25 people.

No congregation is required to return to its church building or grounds for in-person public worship. You have the bishop's full support if you judge that continuing to stream or record from home or from your church building is the best choice for your congregation.

REOPENING GUIDELINES | VERSION 3, JULY 1, 2020

HOW TO THINK ABOUT REOPENING YOUR CHURCH

In order to reopen for in-person worship, every congregation must create a Congregational Regathering Plan that incorporates provisions for good hygiene, cleaning and sanitizing procedures, physical distancing and other best practices. The complexity of the plan will depend on the size and configuration of your building. It need not be more elaborate than necessary. Before you begin your planning, however, we want you to consider one question: How confident are your clergy and lay leaders about returning to in-person worship? Please do not feel pressured to push ahead. Take the time necessary to feel comfortable with the process of reopening.

GUIDELINES FOR GATHERING

Resuming in-person worship during a pandemic raises a myriad of issues, some obvious and some not. Below you will find questions and recommendations to help guide your thinking, along with standards that must be met before the bishop will approve a reopening plan.

Canon Brendan O'Sullivan Hale (brendan@indydio.org), Canon Kristin White (white@indydio.org) and Transition Minister Jen Phelps (phelps@indydio.org) are prepared to support you through this challenging time. If you have questions or need clarification on any of the points found here, please contact them.

BUILDING USE

Before anyone can gather, your church must be ready to receive them. Building users besides the congregation, such as recovery groups, must be provided with a copy of this document and must come to an agreement on what standards are applicable to them. You may want to consider having outside groups sign liability agreements that clarify that the church is not legally responsible if any member of their group becomes ill with COVID-19. A model liability agreement is included in Appendix 2. Each congregation will need to assess its ability to respond appropriately if an outbreak is associated with a building user.

Here are questions you will need to answer, provisions you will need to make, and recommendations that may be of help in preparing your building for worship and others uses.

Questions

How will you ensure safe airflow? Can your HVAC system be set to increase the rate of exchange with fresh air? Does the HVAC system have highly efficient particle filters in place?

Episcopal Diocese of Indianapolis

REOPENING GUIDELINES | VERSION 3, JULY 1, 2020

How will you ensure sanitation and disinfection of your physical plant including pews, doorknobs, light switches, restrooms, and other areas that people touch when they are in your building?

How will you sanitize prayer books and hymnals and provide for the distribution and disposal of worship bulletins?

Do you need to make provisions for small group gathering spaces?

Do you need to make provisions to disinfect and/or restrict the use of nurseries or playgrounds?

If you hold multiple services, how will you ensure proper social distancing between those leaving the church and those arriving?

How will you communicate your safety standards and procedures to people both before they enter the building and while they are present at a service or meeting?

Episcopal Diocese of Indianapolis

REOPENING GUIDELINES | VERSION 3, JULY 1, 2020

Recommendations

Explore the possibility of limiting or entirely avoiding the distribution of printed worship materials. Consider publishing the worship bulletin online or via email, so that people can print it at home or use it on their mobile devices.

Consider removing prayer books, hymnals and Bibles from the pews.

Post signs indicating symptoms and urging people to stay home and seek medical attention if they have symptoms.

Continue to allow staff members who use the church office to work from home as much as possible. Consider limiting the number of people who use the church office and discouraging visitors.

Require everyone present to wear a mask. Ensure that high-touch surfaces are regularly sanitized.

Standards

You must drain and sanitize all holy water stoops and baptismal fonts.

You must maintain sufficient amounts of tissue, soap, hand sanitizer and disposable paper towels.

You must clean the building regularly and between user groups, paying extra attention to high-touch surfaces like light switches, pews, doorknobs, restrooms, etc.

You must have a clearly articulated plan to communicate your safety standards and practices to the congregation.

WORSHIP AND FELLOWSHIP

We have been worshipping online for almost three months. The change from online worship to in-person worship will not happen all at once, and not everyone now worshipping online will feel comfortable coming to church right away. The spiritual needs of the congregants who prefer to continue worshipping online must still be met. Additionally, due to restrictions on the size of public gatherings, many churches will need to manage attendance to remain within the law. This may require both registration and additional services.

Questions

If you choose to return to your buildings while those over 65 and those with underlying medical conditions are being advised to stay home, how will you provide for them and for others who do not feel safe attending church?

Episcopal Diocese of Indianapolis

REOPENING GUIDELINES | VERSION 3, JULY 1, 2020

How will you respond to people in high risk categories who nonetheless want to return to in-person worship?

If you return to your church, will you continue to provide an online service? Online coffee hour? Online small groups?

How will you limit attendance at gatherings so there is room for visitors and newcomers to take part without exceeding the guideline maximum?

How will you coordinate logistics like reservations in order to make that happen?

Everyone present in church gatherings must wear masks. How will you provide masks for people who forget? How will you attend to someone who doesn't want to wear a mask?

Will you screen people who attend gatherings? How will you respond if someone appears ill?

Episcopal Diocese of Indianapolis

REOPENING GUIDELINES | VERSION 3, JULY 1, 2020

What degree of exposure to someone with COVID-19 would preclude someone from gathering? (Someone in their household? In the workspace? A neighbor they pass on the street?)

How will you communicate seating arrangements that ensure social distancing?

Recommendations

If you cannot continue to provide an online worship and fellowship opportunity for those who cannot yet attend church due to the pandemic, you should reconsider the decision to reenter your building.

We strongly recommend that clergy and lay people aged 65 and older or those who have underlying medical conditions that put them at greater risk from the virus stay home, but the decision is left to the individual. Clergy and staff members over age 65 who cannot work from home may return to work if the nature of their work and workspace allows them to practice proper social distancing.

Outdoor services are preferred over indoor services, assuming all necessary precautions can be taken. Sunlight and increased air circulation have a protective effect.

Consider using an online church management system, such as Realm, or a free online event service such as Eventbrite to take reservations for worship to ensure you do not exceed capacity.

Determine an alternative to passing the offertory plates. Provide a stationary and central offering basket. Encourage and make provisions for online giving (available through the diocese at no cost to congregations: onrealm.org/indydio/-/give/covid19)

Governance and program committees of fewer than 10 people may consider meeting in person while wearing masks and maintaining physical distancing but may also continue to meet online.

Consider gathering contact information from all worship and meeting attendees. Recording names will enable the Health Department to more quickly trace, test and quarantine people who may have been exposed to COVID-19 if an attendee is later found to have had the virus at the time they were present. Advance registration for services will ease the process of collecting contact information.

Episcopal Diocese of Indianapolis

REOPENING GUIDELINES | VERSION 3, JULY 1, 2020

Standards

Everyone at church gatherings must wear masks.

Until the risks of singing and playing wind instruments are better understood as a means of transmission, singing and the use of wind instruments in services are not permitted. This includes choral singing, congregational singing, singing by cantors and soloists and chanting by the presider. Consider how to make use of other instruments, recordings, and artistic offerings to God.

Social distance of 6 feet or more must be observed in seating arrangements. Physical contact is not permitted at the peace.

No offering basket or plate may be passed.

Greeters must not make physical contact at the entrance of the church by welcoming people with a handshake or a hug or by taking their temperature.

In-person coffee hours are prohibited until further notice.

A WORD ON THE EUCHARIST

The diocese strongly recommends that congregations use the rites for Morning Prayer, Ante-Communion or Spiritual Communion rather than offering the Holy Eucharist when we first return to our churches. If a church feels compelled to hold a Eucharist, please see Appendix 1 with guidance from the Diocese of Chicago on accommodations for Eucharist.

WEDDINGS AND FUNERALS

Weddings and funerals can occur while adhering to the guidelines provided in this document.

BAPTISMS

If baptism is necessary during the reopening period, the priest should use these guidelines developed by the Diocese of Chicago:

- The service of Baptism should proceed as normal through the blessing of the water. The presider can bless the water but should not touch the water as the rubrics say.
- In the spirit of the BCP provision for Emergency Baptism (BCP, p. 313), Bishop Jennifer recommends that parents both administer the water and anoint their child.
- Following the baptism, the presider continues with the welcome of the newly baptized (BCP, p. 308).

FROM

FEEDING MINISTRIES

Ministries responding to food insecurity or medical support may continue using physical distancing guidelines and other practices suitable for the particular ministry. Requirements for group size, physical distancing, sanitation and use of masks must be followed.

Episcopal Diocese of Indianapolis

REOPENING GUIDELINES | VERSION 3, JULY 1, 2020

We advise that distribution ministries limit time spent inside the building and allow for outside or curbside service.

Any food distribution must be to-go or served by a person using gloves. Buffets are prohibited.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL AND MISSION TRIPS

We recommend that you not offer in-person summer programming, including Vacation Bible Schools and mission trips. Not only has it become clear the virus poses a clear risk to children, but children involved in group activities may also infect more vulnerable family members. We advise that congregations consider providing an online or no-touch drop off at-home activities.

Episcopal Diocese of Indianapolis

REOPENING GUIDELINES | VERSION 3, JULY 1, 2020

Appendix 1: For Priests Celebrating The Eucharist¹

- Bread and wine should be brought to the table by the presider. Presider sets their own table and only presider should be at table.
- Pour only a small amount of wine in chalice to be consumed at end of service when unused hosts are consumed.
- Use hosts instead of homemade bread. Use small presider host.
- Only have presider host directly in front of you during consecration. Have ciborium of hosts for congregants to the side and consider covering the elements being consecrated.
- Think through how you will minimize person-to-person contact for administering the sacrament; how you will sanitize and re-sanitize before and while administering the sacrament; and how you will orchestrate your movements. Please remember that according to The Book of Common Prayer rubrics, consecration can be accomplished with a minimum of gestures and touching of elements.
- Create directional signage and instructions for how to receive communion.
- Communicants should receive host while still wearing mask and consume host as they return to their seats.
